Safety Instructions:

- The product is made of stainless steel, which means that it is corrosion-resistant. Nevertheless, care should be taken to avoid aggressive chemicals and cleaning agents in order to protect the surface finish.
- The use of the cabinet in the food industry requires compliance with hygiene standards. The cabinet should be cleaned and maintained regularly.
- The cabinet has a cylinder lock to ensure that the contents are protected against unauthorised access. Ensure that the key is kept in a protected area.
- Care should be taken to ensure that the installation instructions are followed to guarantee safe construction and use.
- Ensure that the cabinet is securely mounted on the wall to prevent it from falling over, especially in environments with increased potential for movement or impact.
