Safety Instructions:

- The product does not contain any sharp edges or hazardous components. Beware of sharp-edged elements, as these can pose a risk of injury.
- It is recommended that the product is not installed in places that are easily accessible to children and that it is used in children's rooms under supervision to prevent injury.
- Please ensure that the manufacturer's instructions are followed during installation. The product is only suitable for wall mounting. Improper mounting can lead to a risk of falling. Ensure secure and stable mounting to prevent falling.
- The product must be used in accordance with the applicable European standards and the general safety requirements. Carry out a risk analysis before placing the product on the market.
- Avoid placing the frame near direct sunlight or heat sources to prevent discolouration or damage to the frame. There is a risk of deformation if installed near heat sources.
- Keep the frame away from water and moisture to prevent damage and deterioration of the material.
- Do not stick any heavy objects on the glass surfaces to avoid the risk of breakage. The anti-reflective film is not break-proof; there is a risk of cuts if it is damaged.
- The product must bear a unique identification number and appropriate warnings and safety information.
- Keep the technical documentation for at least ten years after placing on the market and make it available to the market surveillance authorities on request.
