Safety Instructions:

- Risk of suffocation due to incorrect use or small parts. Keep the shoes away from small children.
- Risk of crushing due to steel cap; take care with uncontrolled loads. Observe suitable safety techniques.
- Risk of slipping on wet or slippery surfaces, even if the sole is non-slip. Take care in wet conditions.
- Regularly check and clean for damage, especially to the sole, upper material, steel toe cap and penetration protection. Replace if worn.
- Risk of injury in unsuitable working conditions: Only wear the shoes in consideration of the specific environment.
- Make sure that shoes and socks fit properly to avoid injuries or blisters.
- Protect shoes from chemical substances, extreme temperatures, fire and sharp objects.
- Check antistatic properties and penetration protection regularly, especially in electronic or chemical areas.
- These shoes are not suitable for extreme temperature conditions or potentially explosive atmospheres.
