Safety Instructions:

- The platform scale is not suitable for children, contains moving parts and there is a choking hazard due to small parts.
- Risk of suffocation from small parts if handled incorrectly or when dismantling the scales or battery cover.
- Ensure that only the correct power supply unit is used to avoid the risk of electric shock. Take care when handling electrical components.
- Do not immerse in water or other liquids as the scales are not waterproof.
- To avoid environmental pollution, dispose of batteries safely after use - do not dispose of batteries in household waste.
- The scales are not suitable for use by children without supervision. Adult supervision is required to minimise the risk of injury.
- Use the scales on a stable, level surface to avoid falls or injuries.
- Do not exceed the maximum weight of 50 kg. Use in accordance with the instructions for safe handling.
- Note the auto-off function: Scale switches off automatically after 3 minutes of inactivity to prevent overheating or battery consumption.
- Always keep the weighing plate clean and dry for accurate readings.
- Avoid contact with water or damp environments.
