Safety Instructions:

- Only use the safety shoes for their intended purpose to avoid injury.
- When working on uneven terrain and on slippery or wet surfaces, make sure your shoes are securely fastened.
- Check the shoes regularly for damage, especially to the sole and steel toe cap, and for general wear and tear.
- The shoes are not suitable for use in water or in very damp conditions, even if they are water-repellent.
- Keep the shoes clean to preserve the materials and their properties.
- Wear suitable socks when putting on your shoes to avoid chafing and injuries.
- There is a risk of suffocation due to incorrect use of the boots or inadequate protection against cuts.
- Risk of hearing damage if suitable ear defenders are not worn when exposed to noise.
- Avoid using the shoes in extreme weather conditions without suitable protection.
- Risk of electric shock due to improper use of the shoes during electrical work.
